The Vote Counting Process in Malta, 2003

Ballots arrive at the Counting Hall from the polling stations

Ballots are sorted and bundled by Election District

Observers (at the left) behind a translucent plastic screen

Manual examination of each ballot paper by inspectors

Ballots are placed in separate pigeon holes, by candidate

These pictures (without the captions) were provided by the Malta Government's Department of Information