

L-Università ta' Malta

Doctor of Medicine and Surgery

Learning outcomes:

At the end of your course of studies, you will have the ability to:

- practice reflective lifelong learning
- work within a multi-disciplinary team;
- carry out a consultation with a patient;
- prescribe drugs in a safe and effective manner;
- demonstrate an empathic and humane attitude;
- apply ethical and legal principles in medical practice;
- develop and implement a patient management plan;
- assess psychological and social aspects of a patient's illness;
- apply the relevant clinical skills to carry out practical procedures;
- provide immediate and appropriate care of medical emergencies;
- apply the principles, skills and knowledge of evidence-based medicine;
- communicate effectively in a medical context with patients and families;
- use information and information technology effectively in a medical context;
- assess clinical presentations, order investigations, make differential diagnoses;
- apply scientific principles, method and knowledge to medical practice and research;
- promote health, engage with population health issues and work effectively and safely in a health care System;