Data science students, here’s your next mission!

The EY NextWave Data Science Challenge is a global competition for data science students who want to make a difference. We are searching for the brightest analytics minds to analyze real-world problems through data and make findings that will help build a better working world.

If you’re a university student who specializes in data science, engineering, mathematics, science or technology, the EY NextWave Data Science Challenge is a great opportunity for you to put your knowledge and skills to the test. At the same time, you will have fun, learn new things and be doing something meaningful.

What’s more, if you shine in the competition, you may also win prize money and gain public recognition for your achievements.

So, are you up for the challenge?

Visit ey.com/datasciencechallenge for more information.