12th INTERNATIONAL POST GRADUATE UNIVERSITY COURSE IN CHEMISTRY AND CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

held at Tokyo Institute of Technology, Japan, from October 1, 1976
to September 30, 1977

Introduction

As one of the UNESCO projects in the field of natural sciences, UNESCO has been sponsoring the organisation of one-year courses offered by universities or similar institutions for the benefit of scientists, teachers and research workers mainly from developing countries. Japan has been taking part in this UNESCO project since 1965.

The International Post-Graduate University Course in Chemistry and Chemical Engineering is a programme for university graduates who already hold a teaching or research (post-graduate work included) position in a university or an educational or scientific institution. Its aim is to provide them with a more profound education as well as a methodical preparation for their own research or education activities. The participants of the Course, however, will receive no degree since UNESCO post-graduate courses are not regular university courses but special courses designed for short term intensive training.

Tokyo Institute of Technology is a national institute of higher learning specializing in engineering and science. The Institute is the oldest institution of this kind in Japan. It was founded in 1881.

Duration

The Course will run from October 1, 1976 to September 30, 1977.

Working Language

The working language of the Course is English: a little knowledge of Japanese will be helpful in daily life, but it is not essential for the training purpose.

Admission Requirements

The Course will be open to young scientists:

- 1) who are university graduates in chemistry or chemical engineering.
- 2) who have, as on October 1, 1976, at least one year of experience in teaching and/or in research (post-graduate work included) in chemistry or chemical engineering at a university or an educational or scientific institution. They are expected to engage in one of these activities after finishing the Course.
- 3) who have enough proficiency in the use and understanding of the English language, and
- 4) who are not more than 35 years of age as on October 1, 1976.

Selection

14 participants for the 1976-77 Course will be selected by the Selection Board set up in Tokyo Institute of Technology, on which UNESCO will also be represented. Applications will be considered individually on an international competitive basis after careful examination of all the documents submitted. No single country will have a specific quota. On receiving an application, a receipt card will be sent to each of the applicants. Each applicant will be informed by July 31, 1976 of the results of the selection. The documents submitted by the applicants will not be returned.

Diploma

After satisfactory completion of the Course a diploma will be awarded to each participant. It is not possible to obtain a graduate degree such as a Master's degree, or a Doctor's degree.

Fellowship

The Japanese Government will offer to each participant of the Course a fellowship under which the following will be provided:

- 1) a round trip air ticket from his/her home country (excluding domestic flights) to Tokyo, tourist class;
- 2) a lump sum of Y25,000 ($83) on arrival;
- 3) a monthly stipend of Y141,000 ($470) during the study in the Course period. (In view of the rather high cost of living in Japan, this stipend is only sufficient for one person).

The Government will not be responsible for the expenses, either for travel or maintenance, of the participant's dependants who may accompany him or her.

Accommodation

The Secretariat of the Course will help to secure moderate accommodation for them. The rent should be borne by participants themselves.

Medical Care

A Traveller's Personal Accident Insurance will be provided for each participant.

Course Programme

After being interviewed by profession, each participant will be attached to an appropriate laboratory to engage in his own research work. In addition to laboratory work, a series of lectures on Instrumental Analysis including their practical application, study visits to other institutions, and scientific excursions will be arranged. Japanese language lessons will also be available.
