Emoluments

These will cover:

- Return passages (normally by the most direct economy air passage)
- University fees
- Maintenance allowance HK$ 2000 per month
- Books and apparatus allowance HK$ 400 per annum
- Additional travel allowance HK$ 400 per annum
- Clothing allowance (if necessary) HK$ 640
- Medical Facilities:
 - Normal University Health Service for the scholar only provided on the same basis as for all other students in the University.

(ii) Free medical treatment in Government hospitals for scholar and his wife. These facilities do not include hospital maintenance fees, dental and ophthalmic treatment, maternity treatment, nor the cost of any hearing aids or appliances, all of which must be paid for by the scholar and his wife.

The above emoluments are not taxable in Hong Kong.

A grant for the purchase of special capital equipment for research by scholars is normally not included, but in exceptional circumstances where expensive capital equipment is required each case will be considered on its own merit.

An additional marriage allowance of HK$ 1300 per month will be paid to a male scholar who is married at the time of taking up his award if accompanied by his wife. This allowance will not be payable if the wife holds a scholarship or is in paid employment.

Single Commonwealth Scholars at the University of Hong Kong may be accommodated at the Robert Black College, a residential college for visiting scholars and research workers. There is also a limited number of small suites in this residential college suitable for married couples without children. It is not however, possible to guarantee scholars accommodation in the College because of the demand for places from other visiting scholars. Private accommodation in Hong Kong is expensive and in very short supply.

Single and married (without children) Commonwealth Scholars at The Chinese University of Hong Kong may be accommodated at the Postgraduate Hall Complex, a residential hall for both postgraduate and undergraduate students.

Eligibility

Candidates must be Commonwealth citizens, and possess a University degree. They must be under 35 on 1st October, 1981.

Candidates whose native language is not English will be required to produce satisfactory evidence that they have sufficient competence in English. Those applying for studies at The Chinese University of Hong Kong should find out from its Registrar details concerning the language of instruction for each field. An advanced knowledge of Chinese would be an asset.

Scholars will be expected to reside in Hong Kong throughout the period of tenure of the scholarship, though they may leave for short periods with the permission of the University authorities. They may not undertake paid employment without the written consent of the Hong Kong Government.

A scholar is expected to undertake to pursue a course of study set by the University after consultation with him and with the nominating country.

Immigration

Scholars must comply with the normal requirements.
