International President's Message

Active participation to invest in one's professional growth

Emanuel Mizzi

I hope you are well, dear colleagues and friends.

Hard work is being invested in preparation for the upcoming international conference in Illinois, USA. We encourage you to actively participate in this international gathering discussing a timely topic: the use of artificial intelligence in business education. Thanks to the SIEC USA planning committee for their hard work and commitment. We look forward to a nourishing conference and enhanced networking opportunities.

We have also recently communicated with other organisations to advertise the conference. These include the Association for European Economic Education (AEEE) which is advertising our conference on its website: <https://economicseducation.eu/index.php>. We look forward to more such collaborations.

We encourage you to participate in the professional development sessions being offered by SIEC-ISBE. These include a session on May 22nd on 'Business Education in the Age of Generative AI' delivered by Prof Leonard Busuttil from the University of Malta, and another seminar held on October 30th discussing 'Threshold Concepts in Entrepreneurship Education'. The latter is delivered by myself and colleagues from the University of Münster and the Newcastle University Business School. We thank these experts who will be delivering these sessions free of charge. The link to register is <https://www.siec-isbe.org/upcoming-virtual-meetings.html>. I encourage anyone who would like to offer an online PD session to contact us to schedule future nourishing experiences. These sessions make SIEC-ISBE relevant to those who may be unable to attend the annual conferences. Investing in one's formation is the best investment!

I wish you health and peace of mind and soul.

Dr Emanuel Mizzi

International President
