Lunar landscape in St Venera

By Paul Cassar

Being these buildings are num­bered second floor, one can see the dark mountains and an almost transparent sky above, giving the impression of being in a lunar landscape.

Respect towards us citizens

By Eddie Fenech

A policeman on duty near the entrance to the Ħamrun Stadium should have been more professional. When a pedestrian tries to walk on the street, we should respect his or her right to walk. We should not allow our personal feelings to interfere with our duty as citizens.

Another form of animal cruelty

By Carmel Vella

I recently took care of a rabbit given as a gift. The rabbit was undernourished and its hind leg was broken. I took it to a vet who said it could not be saved. I had to put it to sleep.

Traffic hazards in Victoria

By Paul Muscat

The traffic hazards in Victoria are unacceptable. The streets are narrow and the speed limits are too high. Drivers are careless and disregard the rules of the road. This puts pedestrians and cyclists in danger.

De Valette’s sword and dagger

By Richard Divali

This official request should be supported by the public. We are the citizens of Malta and we have the right to demand that our government do its job.

Non-English labelling

By John Grech

We should support the proposal to use both English and French labels on products sold in Malta. This will help our country to be more international and to attract tourists from all over the world.
