

Contributors

Prof Angela Abela is Head of Department of Family Studies, University of Malta and a clinical psychologist, family therapist and supervisor. She has published widely on children and families and is associate editor on a number of peer reviewed international journals.

Mr Noel Agius lectures in Sociology at University of Malta Junior College. His main interests are the sociology of culture and political economy.

Mr Silvan Agius is the Director of the Human Rights and Integration Directorate within the Ministry for Social Dialogue, Consumer Affairs and Civil Liberties. Previously he occupied the position of Policy Director within the European Region of the International Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Trans and Intersex Association.

Dr Jacqueline Azzopardi is the Head of the Department of Criminology within the Faculty for Social Wellbeing of the University of Malta. Dr Azzopardi's areas of interests are policing, criminology, transnational crimes, hate crimes, gender and crime, domestic violence and sex-related crimes.

Prof Godfrey Baldacchino is Professor of Sociology at the University of Malta; UNESCO Co-Chair in Island Studies and Sustainability at the University of Prince Edward Island, Canada; and President of the International Small Islands Studies Association.

Ms Ruth Baldacchino has extensive experience in international LGBTIQ activism and research focusing on queer migration, trans and intersex people, and intersectional social justice. Ms Baldacchino is ILGA World Co-Secretary General and works in the field of LGBTIQ grant making at Astraea Foundation for Justice.

Dr Michael Briguglio is Lecturer at the Department of Sociology of the University of Malta. His research interests are politics, social movements, environment and social policy. He is active in civil society and green politics, and is a local councillor in Sliema.

Dr Maria Brown is visiting senior lecturer at the University of Malta. Her research interests include sociology, education, social policy, sustainable development and research methods. Her experience includes work with the Ministry for Education and Employment, the Council of Europe, the European Commission and Eurydice.

Mr Ian Bugeja is a visiting academic at the University of Malta. His research interests include public policy, social welfare, EU policy and environmental policy.

Prof George Cassar is Associate Professor at the Institute for Tourism, Travel and Culture of the University of Malta. He is a historical sociologist whose research interests include cultural heritage, heritage interpretation and tourism.

Dr Joanne Cassar is Senior Lecturer at the Department of Youth and Community Studies at the University of Malta. Her research interests comprise sexuality education and youth studies, in particular young people's sexualities, gender, and the construction of sexual identities.

Dr JosAnn Cutajar is Senior Lecturer at the Department of Gender Studies of the University of Malta. Her research interests comprise the intersection of gender with race, disability, age, sexuality and social inequality. She is Director of the University of Malta's Cottonera Resource Centre and works on projects to tackle social inequality on a local basis.

Dr Helena Dalli lectures Sociology of Law in the Department of Sociology of the University of Malta and is currently Minister for civil liberties, social dialogue and consumer affairs.

Dr Manwel Debono is a Chartered Occupational Psychologist and holds a Ph.D. in career choice and development. He is a former Director of the Centre for Labour Studies at the University of Malta, where he currently works as a Senior Lecturer.

Dr Katya DeGiovanni is a Chartered Occupational Psychologist and a lecturer at the University of Malta within the Faculty for Social Wellbeing. She has worked for a considerable number of years in the area of early childhood education in her previous post as Director at the Institute of Community Services of the Malta College of Arts, Science and Technology.

Dr Marvin Formosa is Head of the Department of Gerontology, Faculty for Social Wellbeing of the University of Malta. He also holds the posts of Chairperson of the National Commission for Active Ageing (Malta) and Director of the International Institute on Ageing, United Nations - Malta (INIA).

Ms Nathalie Grima is currently working as a regional development agent at the LEAP Northern Harbour, family resource centres in Valletta and Msida. Her research interests include political transnationalism and migration.

Prof Peter Mayo is Head of the Department of Arts, Open Communities and Adult Education, University of Malta and Visiting Professor at University College London for the period October 2016 - September 2018. He lectures in the areas of sociology of education, adult continuing education and sociology.

Dr Maja Miljanic Brinkworth obtained B.A. degree in Economics, M.Sc. in Statistics and Ph.D. in Demography. She specialised in population and development at the ISS, The Hague, the Netherlands. She works as a research consultant and lectures at the University of Malta.

Dr Brenda Murphy is a Senior Lecturer at the Department of Gender Studies of the University of Malta. Born in Ireland, and educated in Waterford, Dublin and London, she has worked in the media industry in London and Dublin, Chaired the Gender Advisory Committee at the Malta Broadcasting Authority and is currently President of the University of Malta's Academic Staff Association (UMASA).