and
_____(ID No: _____), referred to as 'author'.

1. The author warrants that their work “ _____ ” hereinafter referred to as the Work which is being submitted for publication by the Centre for Resilience and Socio-Emotional Health (CRES) is their own original work and does not infringe any third party rights generally on the assumption that it has not been previously published. (If it has, in one way or another, this must be specified).
2. The author undertakes to abide by the University of Malta CRES guidelines and to deal only with the Centre's Editorial Board, as a publisher, throughout the peer review and publication process, and to respect decisions and deadlines. The author undertakes not to deal directly at any point with the printers or other third parties with regard to the product. In the event of any unauthorized costs being incurred, these will be the direct personal responsibility of the author and may lead to the cancellation of the publication.
3. The author undertakes to proof-read the pre-publication text in earnest without unduly changing it and to supply an index to the publication once the proofs are corrected.
4. Copyright will vest in the author but the publisher will have the right of first refusal in the event of re-publication in a subsequent edition.
5. The author grants to the publisher the sole and exclusive right and licence to produce and publish, and to licence others to produce and publish, the Work or any abridgement, adaptation or translation of the work in all forms and media, for the full term of the copyright
6. The author may use no more than 10% of the material from the Work in academic or professional journals, and for the author's professional purposes, provided that they inform the publisher in advance, and acknowledge the work and the publisher.
7. The author will be entitled to a soft copy of their Work and 2 complimentary hard copies of their work.
8. The Work may be disseminated on the author's own institutional repository and other repositories such as Research Gate whilst acknowledging the University of Malta Centre as publisher and year of publication.
9. The publication may be printed by another printing press of the author's choice as long as it is printed in the original published form and following written approval by the Centre Editorial Board

10. In the case of the Centre's website, where the Work is deposited, being no longer available, the Work will be deposited on a dedicated page on the website of the International Journal of Emotional Education published by the University of Malta.
