

David Theoharis

Professor
Pratt School of Architecture
USA

Personal Profile

David comes from Lefkosia, although he was born and raised in New York.

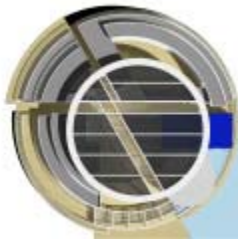

David received his B Arch from the Pratt Institute of Architecture and his M Arch from Yale University, Connecticut.

Favourite sayings “ My house is not my castle, but my shelter”.

If you are designing a house in Cyprus you have to take into account that Cypriots like to spend time with the family, they like to spend time in the garden... All these are aspects of their particular way of life.

Research Profile

If you are to design a house for a family, you have to involve to a certain extent yourself with the family. You have to see what would satisfy the needs of the children of that family.

Links

To find out more about David's research and work please view <http://www.tdanyc.com/people/td.php>